

HSE Compliance Officer

- Leading solar and energy solutions engineering & construction company
- Be part of an award-winning team and genuine positive culture
- Located in Frenchs Forest, Sydney

About the role

Autonomous Energy is seeking an experienced Work Health and Safety professional to join our team. The Health, Safety and Environmental (HSE) Compliance Officer will ensure all environmental and health and safety policies and procedures are implemented on all Autonomous Energy's projects and sites. This will involve conducting site visits and auditing the safety systems on site, as well as improving our health, safety and environmental procedures. The HSE Compliance Officer is integral to maintaining our strong track record with relation to WHS and environmental compliance. The HSE Officer should be familiar with WHS legislation in all Australian States and Territories, including Commonwealth legislation. The HSE Compliance Officer reports to the Head of Operations and will assist with maintaining and improving Autonomous Energy's externally audited WHS management and environmental systems. The Compliance Officer will also assist in rolling out, training, engaging, supporting staff, monitoring compliance and initiating corrective actions.
